Great Exposition Being Planned for Southland

Resources of the Appalachian Mountain Region to Be Displayed to World.

A great exposition, to exploit the resources of the Appalachian mountain region, included in the states of Alabama, Georgia, North and South Carolina, Kentucky, Tennessee, Virginia and West Virginia, will be held in Knoxville, Tenn., Sept. 12 to Oct. 12, next. The movement has been organized purely in the interest of letting the outside world know what is included in these mountains. The possibilities for developing untold wealth are seemingly unlimited. It is with a view to attracting the attention of the people of these Appalachian states, as well as of the entire nation, to these opportunities and possibilities that this exposition is to be held. In addition to the commercial and industrial sides, however, there will be many amusement features, and the historic grandeur of the Appalachian territory will be told in panoramas, tableaux, spectacles and by other means that will prove highly interesting and entertaining. The whole plan will be to arouse a new interest in the Appalachian territory, and bring the people of the Appalachian states "closer together." That the exposition will be a success is already assured, and more than 300,000 visitors are expected during the four weeks it continues.

Horses, Mules and Cattle Are Raised

Appalachian Mountain Region Affords Abundant Opportunities.

The Appalachian region is unequalled in America as a home for breeding establishments. The winters are not too rigorous and summer's heat is tempered by breezes wafted from mountain ranges and foothills into the fertile valleys lying between. Cattle from this region are shipped to Baltimore and exported, commanding highest prices in European centers. The Tennessee mule is second to none, not even the Missouri or Kentucky mule. Not so large as the Missouri animal, the Tennessee product combines all the good qualities of the world-be rivals and excels them in durability, stamina and as a beast of burden for all-around general purposes.

Mountain ranges in profusion make the Appalachian the ideal section for sheep raising—a most profitable and much neglected industry.

While Kentucky is the home of the thoroughbred, and justly proud of her reputation, the pacing steed marvels of the grand circuit are the evolution of the old "side-wheeler" pacers used by devout circuit riders before the civil war in going from church to church in the mountains and valleys of the Appalachian country. The "Patch" and "Gentry" families of noted racers are the perfected descendants of those ambling mountain limbers, and there's nothing lacking but the investment of capital by experienced men in various lines of stock raising to make this the Mecca of animal industry, now but in its infancy.

Farmers at last are beginning to see their opportunities and are taking up the breeding of thoroughbred stock. It costs but little more, and the returns are invitingly larger. In nearly every county seat during the fall race meetings and fairs are held, and large attendance attests the growing of the interest.

A more inviting region for the breeder of the thoroughbred and the standard-bred horse is not to be found, while, agriculturally, the fertile valleys are a veritable paradise. The possibilities of this region, not only as adapted to stock raising, agriculture and mining, but to all other proposed avenues of industry, will be fully set out at the Appalachian Exposition, to be held in Knoxville, Tenn., September 12 to October 12, next. This will be the greatest exposition the south has ever known.

Rich In Mineral Wealth That Awaits Developing.

Valuable Coal, Iron, Marble, Zinc, Lead and Other Resources Will Be Exhibited in Appalachian Exposition.

One of the richest regions in the entire country is the Appalachian chain of mountains, in which vast deposits of coal, iron, lead, zinc, gold, silver and other minerals of value are to be found. The fruits of these mountains will be displayed to advantage at the Appalachian Exposition, to be held in Knoxville, Tenn., September 12 to October 12, next. The minerals exhibit will be housed in an appropriate building, and it will be one of the prizes of the exposition to give the world at large a glimpse of what is to be found in this region, which includes part of eight southern states. It will be but another lesson to men of the north and east and west, as to the great natural wealth of the south. This display should be seen.

Preserving Pencil Marks. If the paper on which there is black-lead pencil writing is brushed over with a thin coating of white of egg, or varnish, the pencil marks will be preserved from liability to detachment.

Asher in Adair

Columbia, Ky., May 26, 1910. Hon. E. G. Ashe, of Pineville, Bell county addressed a large crowd of Adair county citizens at the Court house in this place on Monday, the 23, in the interest of Caleb Powers candidacy for Congress. His address was an open discussion of the issues. He denounced the Edwards organs in the district for the misrepresentation of Powers and their attack on Governor Wilson, and with every utterance he struck the key note of the situation.

Mr. Asher received marked attention throughout his entire address, lasting about two hours, and the frequent bursts of applause showed plainly that he was receiving the endorsement of his hearers.

This county is very strong for Powers, and will give him the largest vote ever received by a candidate for congress in this district, and according to information received here the entire lower end of the district seems solid for Powers.
